TMD TREATMENT WITH RADIOFREQUENCY

According to the American Dental Association, more than 15% of Americans suffer discomfort caused by Temporomandibular Disorder (TMD). TMD (or TMJ) is a condition of the temporomandibular joints, which are located on either side of your head. These joints work in conjunction with your muscles, ligaments, and bones—enabling activities such as speaking and chewing. When these joints are not working properly, it can cause a great deal of facial pain and other issues.

TMD symptoms may include:

- Facial, neck, or shoulder pain when you chew, speak & yawn
- Limited ability to fully open your mouth
- Jaw locking
- Clicking or popping sounds when you move your jaw
- Difficulty and discomfort with chewing or biting
- Facial swelling, toothaches, headaches, and neck aches
- Dizziness, earaches, and even hearing loss

Viora's first and only vacuum-assisted radiofrequency (RF) treatment option offers patients a better alternative over traditional forms of TMD treatment (such as Botox, mouth guards, anti-inflammatory medication, and even surgery). During a pain-free, quick, and relaxing procedure we can relieve pain, reduce muscle spasm, improve joint mobility, and restore function with incredible efficiency. A series of customized treatments for chronic or acute TMD can achieve even better results.

I suffer from TMD associated with my nighttime clenching. The Viora TMD treatment relaxes my muscles and helps me sleep better at night. I wake with less pain. I actually really enjoy the treatments with my dentist.

VIORA TREATMENT PHOTOS + RESULTS

Quick, comfortable, heat-based treatments are therapeutic in nature, providing a massage effect that affects muscle tone and causes general relaxation. Increased blood flow and muscle temperature make sore muscles more compliant—restoring immediate relief in function and a better quality of life.

Since these gentle RF treatments provide immediate relief in pain level, Viora's TMD treatment can offer a better, more tolerable experience for you during some dental procedures not related to TMD.

Shape the Future

The greatest advantage of this treatment is instant relief! It's like having a physical therapist in the office. For many patients, they have lasting relief after only a few treatments, but the beauty is every patient always experiences less pain after a treatment.
